SUMMARY OF FINDINGS

UWIC delivers the PGCE & Teaching and Learning Certificate (PCET) as a multi disciplinary programme. In 2007 NMC approval was gained to enable nurses to exit the programme with an NMC recordable teaching qualification. There are two nursing students currently on this programme and specific support is provided for them in the form of a Pathway Co-ordinator who holds a current registration and a recorded teaching qualification. They are supported in practice by appropriately qualified and prepared mentors. UWIC will continue to recruit nurses onto the programme but will not seek re-approval from NMC.

Admission processes are robust, requiring support from the employer and assurance that study time requirements can be met. Enhanced CRB clearance is required on entry to the programme. The university has robust Fitness to Practise procedures to manage both academic and professional issues. The employers Fitness to Practise procedures will also be followed if necessary.

UWIC has good working relationships with Cardiff University and the Health Boards. The Health Boards support nurses who wish to access this programme and also the mentors for the students. Mentors are prepared individually to support students, the qualifications and requirements of mentors are clearly outlined. The Pathway Co-ordinator supports and assesses both students and mentors in the practice areas. The Programme Director monitors progress and ratifies portfolios.

The programme is viewed positively by participants, being seen as good preparation for a teaching role. One student commented that the requirement to link educational theory to their own area of practice had led to a change in practice.

The university has robust quality assurance mechanisms ensuring that student feedback is listened to and acted upon. The external examiner is supportive of the assessment strategy and has attended teaching sessions. The Programme Director ensures that professional requirements are met.
